

David Boxley, Northwest Coast Tsimshian Artist

Showing at the Santa Fe Indian Art Market

August 18 & 19, 2012

Booth Location: Cathedral Place, #905 CAT

David Boxley

Tsimshian Artist

www.davidboxley.com

Kingston, Washington

Email: davidboxley@msn.com

Business (360) 638-1748

Cell (360) 434-3268

New Carvings showing at the Santa Fe Indian Market

Masks

Bentwood Boxes

Paddles

Rattles

Panels

Bowls

Feast Tray

Also, Drums & Prints

"Moon Mask"

Carved from Red Cedar. Eagle mask outlined with human forms and eagle claw design. Abalone shell and opurculum shell inlay and completed with a cedar braided rope. 31 1/2" x 9"

Git-Hoan Dancers, led by David Boxley perform during Santa Fe Indian Art Market

Sealaska Heritage Institute for the second year will return to the Santa Fe Indian Market to showcase Alaska Native art and cultures.

This year the Sealaska stage will feature the Git-Hoan Dancers, led by renowned artist and culture bearer, David Boxley. The Git-Hoan Dancers share the oral traditions of their ancestors, sharing stories with song and dance, performing with a wide variety of traditionally carved articulated masks, drums, rattles and props to showcase this living art and culture. The Git-Hoan Dancers have earned a reputation as an exciting, high energy, entertaining and educational group that has shared dance throughout the United States, Canada and Europe.

Facebook page: Git-Hoan Dancers

